I, Matt Delbert Mann, understand that Foster Land and Cattle ("Foster") is in the process of having water rights licensed on a farm that they call "North Slope." It is also my understanding that the licensing of their water rights will include a portion of property identified on Exhibit A attached to this document. It is my further understanding that the licensing of this water right is based upon a field exam performed in the early 1990s, and in that regard, we had an arrangement with Foster to allow them to irrigate portions of our property, which we permitted. We have no objection to the North Slope water rights being licensed with our property included, as that is how the water was developed. However, since the early 1990s, Foster has ceased irrigating our property and moved those irrigated acres elsewhere on their property. We understand that after a license is issued for the North Slope water rights, Foster will administratively change its water rights to match up with the irrigated acres that are currently irrigated, and will remove the water right from our property. This consent from myself is for both (1) the licensing of the North Slope water rights on our property, and (2) once the administrative change to the North Slope water rights is filed (the "transfer"), our consent to the North Slope water rights being moved off of our property.
