Re: No Amendment Needed

The permit document only shows one point of diversion, but the final order references three points of diversion under finding of fact #3. It is clear from the final order that the intent was to develop three wells and that this was knowledge to the protesting parties. I confirmed with David Blew the point of diversion locations and they all fall within the same 10 acre tract. Because of this, there is no need for an amendment in order to issue the license with three points of diversion.
