Dear Monica:

In reviewing the acceptances of our water rights into the Water Supply Bank, we noticed that on Water Right No. 196, we wanted to keep .02 cfs out of our total of .24 cfs for our use leaving .22 cfs to lease. The lease indicates the total of .24 cfs. It was our understanding that we could retain some water out of the total. Is this correct?

We have a small question regarding the land descriptions on the place of use to be idled. Water rights Nos. 196 and 198 say that the water may be used to irrigate a limited number of acres in a season within the larger place of use. If the larger total area described as: "place of use" in the water right is not described as: "place of use to be idled", do we jeopardize our future ability to irrigate those portions not described as idled?

Thanks for your time to clarify these issues for us.

Sincerely

Mary Ellen Pugh
