Dear Ms. Ball,

As per our discussion last week I have enclosed water bank applications to submit several water rights, or portions thereof to the water bank. I have also included 2004 NAIP aerial photos of the ground covered by those water rights and the Water Master's Distribution Report for water year 2006. In 2006 we took most of the ground out of hay production and planted dry-land grass. Because of this, the ground looks mostly not irrigated in the 2006 Aerial Photo. However, this is because dry-land grass never looks very green, especially in the year it is planted. Irrigation did take place during 2006 as evidenced by the enclosed excerpt from the 2006 Water Master's Report. The ground was also fully irrigated during 2005. However, the Water Master's Report for that year is not available on-line. If you need copies let me know and I will see the Water Master about that.

Please let me know if you require further documentation.

Sincerely,

Jim Gregory
Ranch Manager
