

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape, likely in the Pacific Northwest, showing a mix of green fields, brown fallow land, and a winding river. A prominent pink boundary line outlines a large, irregularly shaped parcel of land. The parcel contains several smaller, rectangular areas outlined in green, possibly indicating sub-parcels or specific features. A red vertical line and a blue vertical line intersect the map, along with horizontal yellow and green lines, suggesting a grid system. Numerous small white squares are scattered across the map, possibly representing individual lots or specific points of interest. A text box is overlaid on the map, providing information about the parcel's history.

36-16733 before
Silver Trust ownership change split 6/21/2011