RE: 63-33239 Application for Amendment

Lori Sanderson, president of the organization, visited the office today. The amendment application was voided by 5/2/11 preliminary order. She has not received the order yet, and her visit was coincidental.

We discussed the situation. She agreed it was better to keep the permit in place without changing it. It will be used for the common area in the vicinity of Lot 1. Each lot owner intending to irrigate more than ½ acre will file his/her own application for permit.

This will be less confusing and less expensive than multiple assignments of portions of the permit along with multiple amendments to add a separate well for each separate portion.

I drafted an application template for the owners to use and gave it to Lori.

She asked for a refund of the amendment fee (non-advertised application). Although refunds are typically not issued for voided applications, a refund is justified in this case.
