The well locations are right and I understand the descriptions listed. Let's proceed.

Mr. Sterling,

I received your faxes showing the correct well locations, but I believe that I confused you in our phone conversations. Based on the aerial photo maps we have exchanged, I have corrected the locations for the 3 wells that I understand you would like to have as points-of-diversion for this transfer (transfer #73890). I have attached a screen shot showing those wells locations.

All three wells are located in the SW quarter of the SW quarter, which is often abbreviated as SWSW. SWSW is the 40-acre legal subdivision description.

For existing wells and with good confirmation from the applicant, I need to confirm well locations down to the 10-acre tract and describe them to the 10-acre legal subdivision. A 10-acre legal description will add another set of directional letters to the 40-acre tract description. I used that additional set of directional letters in my conversations with you yesterday without clarifying my meaning.

I find all three wells are located in the SW quarter of the SW quarter (the SWSW).

However

-Two wells are located in the SE quarter of the SW quarter of the SW quarter, which is abbreviated as SESWSW. SESWSW is the 10-acre legal description for those wells.

-One well is located in the SW quarter of the SW quarter of the SW quarter, which is abbreviated SWSWSW. SWSWSW is the 10-acre legal description for that well.

If these locations are now correct, please confirm by responding to this email. I will amend your transfer application to include these 3 wells as points of diversion.

Thank you

I understand you received the well location corrections. In addition, please amend the application for transfer to add a 3rd point of diversion (#73890) to the system, all in SE of SWSW, as we discussed this morning. Thanks for your help. John
