RE: Call from Permit Holder about Proof Due Notice Received

Bill Gattung telephoned today regarding the proof due notice he received. He explained that he has been in and out of the hospital a lot over the past six (6) months. Initially when I returned his call the home health nurse was there, and I was asked to phone back a few minutes later.

Mr. Gattung was very confused about the notice, and what he needed to do. He stated that he thought he had already filed the proof of beneficial use. I explained that he has two other permits that he did file proof on, but this one was permitted in 2009, and has a proof due date of December 1, 2010. He stated that he lost the paperwork explaining what it is he needs to do, and requested that I send him a letter explaining what he needs to file, and how much he needs to pay.

I explained that he should file the Statement of Completion form, only if the water has been applied to its beneficial use. I also explained that I could not tell him the amount of water being diverted, but that I could send him a copy of his permit which would show that maximum diversion rate allowed under this permit for irrigation use.

I further explained that he could file the request for extension of time form, if he needed more time to complete the project in order to put the water to its full beneficial use. I told Mr. Gattung that the fee for filing an extension of time is $50.00.

After further discussion, we discovered that he had the proof due notice and all of the attachments necessary to file either a proof of beneficial use, or an extension request. Today, I mailed Mr. Gattung a copy of this permit for his reference.
