I don't have any additional comments, Tim pretty much covered it. I suppose the watermaster wouldn't have to regulate this right unless the senior user requests it, and I expect this new use will be small and intermittent, so I don't expect the senior users to make much of a fuss... but you never know...

Corey,

Sorry I did not get back to you. Nick was out of the office today and I don't believe I had a chance to discuss this one with him. The watermaster comments indicate that Fisher Creek often does not have adequate supply to fill rights so this right would appear to need the watermaster conditions that you have already included, as well as the lockable control condition. I think it is good to go. I think the hang up for me and perhaps Nick was the fact that domestic rights are as a matter of practicality excluded from administration in the water district but that does not preclude regulation of a junior domestic right when necessary if the exercise of that right causes injury to seniors, and particularly if the new appropriation has the watermaster regulation condition (this appropriation after all does occur after creation of the district). I think we were also struggling with whether this right would have to be assessed by the district if it is regulated but I think that can be decided by the district at a later date.

Nick, please provide any comments to Corey ASAP if you have other thoughts or concerns.

Tim,

Did we need to talk about this, or is the draft approval good enough on this? I would like to get this to Allen for issuance of the permit.

Tim,

When you get a chance, could you round up Nick Miller and give Allen and I a call regarding an application for permit, 71-10928, that we are considering approving.

Thanks,

Corey
