Good afternoon Monica,

Attached above is an annotated aerial photograph showing the correct location of the Meridian Well #21 pump house. This is the same location of my field exam map and the field exam GPS. However, you are correct that the location listed on the Permit is not correct (I recall that the well location was changed in between the filing of the permit and the drilling of the well. In any case, the actual location needs to be correct on the License. If you feel that we need to file an amendment of Permit, we will absolutely do so. However, because the locations are so close, does the Department have the descretion to simply make the change based on the Examiner's findings? Let me know.

I will call you about the zones of completion.

Ed

Hi Ed,

I left a message earlier about the water bearing zones for 63-12181 and 63-12560 and I will make sure we talk over the phone about those. However, I have another question.

I've attached a Word document to this email that explains my question. I have a screen capture of the approximate area for the POD for 63-12560. One arrow points to where the GPS coordinates locate it, another arrow shows where Figure 1 in the field exam puts it and another arrow shows the QQ in which it was permitted. Can you look at these approximate locations and provide the correct location for the well? If we need to do an amendment, that will be pretty easy but, of course, I want to make sure the POD gets licensed correctly.

Thanks, Ed!

Monica
