Subject: Georgetown Irrigation bypass flow agreement

After several years Randy Budge and I decided to get this agreement out from under our desks, polish it and take it to our clients one last time. would you review to see if in principle it would be acceptable to include conditions in license for the hydropower right? Notice that at the end of each condition, there is a disclaimer noting that IDWR will not enforce the terms and conditions of agreement on irrigation right --the agreements as applied to the irrigation right is a matter of contract. the paragraph on mitigation for reduced flow is a placeholder - we are trying to figure out whether the recording intervals would allow for reasonable replacement flows. thanks.
