Re: Corrected Ownership Change, Water Right No. 61-12151

Dear Water Right Owners:

The Idaho Department of Water Resources (IDWR) sent you a letter on August 8, 2008 regarding corrections to the above referenced water right for your property. Enclosed are a copy of that letter and a current printout of the corrected record based on the analysis discussed in that letter.

As noted in the prior correspondence, your warranty deed is the legally governing document with respect to your water right. The pro-rated method previously described had to be applied to your property based on your deed.

Different results are possible through actions such as quitclaim deeds and so forth. Your water right can be updated if legally binding results of such actions are filed with IDWR. In that case, a new "notice of change in water right ownership" could be filed with this office to update your water right.

Sincerely,

Steve Lester
Water Rights Supervisor
