Re: application overview

Currently the place of use consists of three pivots. In the winter the fields are flooded with separate rights not involved in this transfer to turn pou into duck hunting club. Both rights 36-15467 and 36-98 are delivered out of the Sands ditch that originates off of Billingsley Creek. To irrigate the middle pivot the canal water runs into a pond and then to a second on the west side of the property where it is relifted by a pump. Snake River right 2-10338 has also been transferred by 73568 to the place of use. From discussion with regional staff, applicant has not used the Snake River water yet and is irrigating more ground than the 91 allowed acres under the Billingsley Creek rights. This transfer seeks to solve this problem.

Application proposes to inject some of the creek rights into the Snake and redirect at a pump house. Water will then be lifted up the canyon wall to the middle pivot with the 30 inches of water from 2-10338. Reason for waiting to pump 2-10338 was to have additional water (the canal rights in this transfer) pumped with it. Applicant stated this is for cost effectiveness.
