I can find no record of these advertisements in our system, and on taking a look at our network setup, it seems that (due to an error on my part) the address ceara@theadamscountyrecord.com (which I presume was the one you were using) returned the responder message you got, but mail addressed there went absolutely no-where, an issue I have rectified.

I am 99.9% positive that these never made it into print, and in fact we never knew anything about them.

Sorry for the confusion,
