Subject: Water Transfers Glen Larson and Cassia Creek Farms...

Hi Wayne,

I finally found a little time to start working on these transfers and found a few problems and/or omissions.

Glen Larson on 45-7011

There is another right (45-11017) - with a totally overlapping place of use, which will need to be included in the transfer, as the acres will also need to be reduced on this right. Also, because this transfer is changing the nature of use from irrigation to year-round stockwater and commercial use, crop records for the acres being dried up must also be included. These will tell us the actual consumptive use for the acres, as opposed to the 4 AFA that is standard for irrigation. (Depending on the crops grown, the consumptive use volume may be less than the 3 AFA you used when deciding how many acres needed to be dried up. This could result in the need for additional acres to be dried up.)

Cassia Creek Farms LLC on 43-2472

There is also an overlapping right (43-2569 - same place of use) which should be included in the transfer. (There are some of what we call associated rights [43-2471, 43-2475, and 43-4199] which don't need to be included in the transfer, but we will have to reduce their acres and re-do the remarks.) Again, we will need crop records for the acres being dried up so we can determine a consumptive use volume for the acres and make sure enough acres will be dried up.

I'm sorry I didn't notice these things when you originally dropped the applications off. Please call if you have any questions or would like to make an appointment to come in so we can discuss these items.

Also, you can check our web-site for the Transfer Memo which talks about the requirements for changing the Nature of Use on page 23 under Item 5. <http://www.idwr.idaho.gov/water/rights/ESPA%20Transfer%20Memo.pdf>
