Re: Final Draft License

I reviewed the file and beneficial field exam and prepared the License Amendment Form, cover letter, and final draft license. I discussed the possibilities of switching the use description to industrial (as allowed for in App. & Processing Memo #61) but in the end agreed with JStanton that a use description more reflective of the actual use, i.e. 31-Water Quality Improvement, was a better way to go. I also discussed the potential for a storage component of this water right license with JStanton and we agreed that it would be very hard to quantify any storage component due to the following: (1) the fact that the ponds and this system have not been used in many years; (2) the residence times of the system are unknown and more than likely transient from year to year, when in use; and (3) the ratio of volume of "dirty" water stored to "clean" water stored is unknown, and again more than likely transient in time.
