hi jim.

this one is still in the works. i have several pieces of contradictory evidence, so i am pursuing additional evidence this week. it's too early for me to tell whether or not i will be recommending the beneficial use claims. i will probably need some advice from our legal staff before it's all over. therefore i would hold off on licensing for now. i will be sure to let you know when we have this nailed down a little better. thanks for your patience.

Michael - How are you coming on this one? This is the situation where I have the licensing exam and you have the SRBA beneficial-use claim to be reviewed. Have you decided whether we want to license the permit or hold off so you can go ahead with reviewing and recommending the claim? Just checking to make sure I don't lose track of the situation. Thanks.
