Gentleman~

Candice just called me to inquire into our reaction to the following proposals from her client.

- A. They amend their POD to the other side of the "negative boundary" and move forward with the application process?
- B. Can they submit a mitigation plan with there application that would mitigate for any future injury by a combination of
 - a. Giving up the use of their existing supplemental well adjacent to the springs
 - b. Exc hanging existing surface water rights for the new groundwater rights
 - c. Reducing the number of acres irrigated, considering both of their properties (i.e. down by the springs and up on the hill)

In regards to option A I think we would need to understand how Dennis went about identifying and locating the no-flow boundary condition in the model, but if this truly is a no-flow boundary condition this option would seem to have merit. Option B also seems to have merit especially if you are replacing an existing well immediately adjacent to the springs for one that is potentially more hydraulically remote. Again the real concern is injury and I'm not sure how you would convince yourself which well truly represents the greater injury without pump tests but...

At any rate, she would like to hear back from us on this matter today or tomorrow and was concerned that might not happen with Shelley being gone the next two days.

Subject: Information Requested Regarding Seamons Permit

Candice,

Here is the information you requested in our meeting today, I believe this is what you were looking for but if not let me know and I'll see what I can do. I have attached an excel sheet that shows all of the permits and applications for basin 15 sorted by priority date. It looks like there have been about a dozen permits issued subsequent to the Seamons priority date of 2/21/2007. I've attached a map that shows which of these dozen are in close proximity to the springs (three permits shown in green on the map). Also the ground water elevations topo map we discussed that shows the flows for the area was included in the report it's the first page and should be in the scanned documents as part of the file. Let me know if you still can't find it, I overlooked it several times knowing full well it was in there. It was a pleasure to meet today and I look forward to working through this with you and the Seamons.

Best Regards,
