Dear Debbie,

Enclosed you will find various documents in support of demonstrating use of this facility as a school during the time period in question (1999-2004). After a thorough search of all records on hand, this is the best I could come up with.

I did manage to locate the driller of the well (Bill Cushman). He was very helpful in supplying the information found on the certificate. I am assuming that your office has on file a record of transfer of groundwater rights from Mrs. Hernandez to Lillian Valley School. The named representative for the school, at that time, would have been John Thornton.

The explanation of why the proper papers were not filed at the end of the initial five-year period (1999-2004,) can best be summed up, I believe, in the fact that this facility has had multiple directors in its nine and a half year history. I am assuming that the papers did not get filed during one of those transitions of authority.

Any consideration you are able to afford us in this case will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Ray Boyd, Head of School

Dear friends,

We have just finished six and one-half years at Lillian Vallely School. The last week of activities included a trip to the Fort Hall Museum to see a Lewis and Clark exhibit. The children and staff enjoyed having lunch on the lawn and seeing the exhibit, which includes a painting by our own art teacher, Sara Irwin-Bronco.

Field activities on Thursday included volleyball, sack races and a tug of war with different combinations of teams. The last combination of students on one end and staff on the other took only about five seconds before the students pulled all the staff across the line! The arrival of Fort Hall Fire trucks was the highlight of the day. The firefighters set up wonderful activities, which included shooting at some targets with a hose, an obstacle course and a small house type structure with fake smoke coming from it the children could crawl through.

Friday was graduation for our six fifth graders. They were each presented with a beautiful hand carved wood flute, a gift from their flute teacher, Ethel Sickert, from Arizona. She has taught all of the children to play the Indian flute and wanted to be sure the graduates could continue on a quality flute. Several of them have learned to compose their own songs and played them at graduation.

Three Mission Teams will be coming to the school this summer. This week a group of teenagers and their adult leaders from Christ Church Cathedral, Indianapolis are teaching summer school to our children and improving the buildings and grounds. This is the third summer and fourth mission team from Christ Church Cathedral. We are always grateful for their help.

St. Luke's, Dallas, Texas is making their third trip to the school July 19-23. They are the folks who tore down six buildings for us our first summer at the school farm and built the beautiful arch the following summer. They will again be teaching Vacation Bible School to our children.
