Jeanie,
Each split should be proportional for rate, volume and acres so either way will end the same. I think in this case just work with the 79.5 acre portion to complete the RJ LLC ownership split and transfer. I believe they are still interested in those other transfers in the Keco Farm area but the schedule priority is very low.

Thanks,

Hi Jason,
Was busy adding in all the associated rights that Young & Young will retain after this transfer and have question for you. This transfer lists right 36-8776, which was originally for 6.1 cfs, 2,240 AF, and 560 acres. This was the one that I split many times in preparation for all those dairy site transfers that you told me not to work on. (I have already created the splits.) You mentioned that they might not want to do them at all now and I was wondering if they might want to Withdraw all those transfers so I can put 36-8776 back together again, or should I just deal with 36-16386, the part that's left after removing all the splits? It is now worth 0.87 cfs, 318 AF, and 79.5 acres. Let me know. Thanks,
Jeanie
