Re: note to file

While preparing the license, I found the following items worth noting:

I was not able to locate any additional data about this well from IDWR well drilling records.

In my place of use analysis, I found that the quad map has this place of use labeled Trailer Park, but according to the Bonner County Assessor, the last two owners have been non-profit entities and the houses have been in this location for several years.

I also found that Trestle Creek has two branches in this area and the upper branch is not shown on the quad map to which I had access. This made place of diversion overlap analysis more difficult.
