Ken said he doesn't have an answer for why the volumes were so much greater in the 80s than these past several years, but he does not think problems or changes with the monitoring data account for the differences. He suggested we talk to Tim Mason at the Dept. of Admin. about whether he remembers what was going on then. I called his office and spoke to one of his staff - she said he hasn't been around that long, but maybe he has some data. I suspect it's the same as what Ken's got. Let me know where we should go from here.
