Dear Mr. Burns:

Thank you for your letter of April 23, 1968. Domestic use in connection with subterranean water has been defined for the Department of Reclamation by the Idaho Attorney General. The definition is that of domestic use for a single family household, not to exceed 13,000 gallons per day including stock water for household domestic livestock only.

The definition does not include irrigation; therefore, it is our impression that unless your use of the water specifically aligns itself with the definition, a filing should be made.

We are enclosing additional forms for your use in this consideration. Please contact us if we can be of further assistance to you.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. McEldowney:

In reply to your letter of March 22, 1968 we understood that it was permissible to drill a well for domestic use, and that is what this well is for. There may be several houses hook onto it for domestic water.

Under date of March 5th we received a letter from you re permit #32840 Priest Lake Golf Course, Inc. That is the water that is used for irrigating the golf course.

We hope this answers your question. If there is a permit required for domestic water, we were not aware of it and will be glad to comply with whatever is necessary.

Yours truly,
