Re: 63-03445 (T-5314), 63-08088 and 63-12296

Dear Keith:

This a delayed response to your letter of July 20, 1999, requesting concurrence to use water to establish the cover crops needed for land application of waste water without first using the water for domestic purposes at the new prison. This issue arises because the water rights are conditioned to require use of the water for the primary domestic purpose prior to applying the waste water to irrigate fields as part of the waste water clean-up. We have discussed this matter several times since receipt of the letter, and I understand that the issue has been resolved for at least the present by using waste water stored from the construction process.

As we discussed, authorizing direct irrigation under a right that allows land application only for purposes of waste water treatment could be a precedent that others might seek to use. Once a cover crop is established, a water user will likely be reluctant to stop irrigating if the primary use under the right is further delayed. Because land application of waste is a common practice, the effect of the precedent could be far-reaching.

Our discussions identified that because Department of Corrections has not been using all of its irrigation rights this year, the state water bank provides a workable process for moving temporarily all or part of another right owned by Corrections to irrigate the land needed for the cover crop. If it turns out that the construction waste water is not adequate, the water bank procedure is an alternative.

If this matter is not adequately resolved as described in this letter, please let me know and it will be given further review.

Sincerely,

Department of Water Resources

The Idaho Department of Corrections' Administrator of Operations requested that I provide you with a certified measurement of the production from water well #5 which is the point of diversion listed under application #63-8088. The well was drilled under my supervision in 1975 and 76 and tested using normal test pumping procedures. In addition, I have subsequently measured the production using a Collins air/water manometer each year since the well has been put into production. The measurement was taken in the discharge pipe in the appropriate section so as to minimize turbulence and interference from valves, turns, and other fixtures. The flow from the well has also been measured using a 12" discharge pipe and 10" orifice plate. On June 25, 1976 I measured the well which was producing 2,409 gallons per minute from a pumping level of 422 feet during the test pumping procedure. After being put into production and tied into the irrigation system, the well was again measured on November 16, 1978 under pressure conditions. Since this date is outside the normal irrigation season, the well was brought up to the sprinkler operating pressure. The flow was measured using the Collins air/water manometer at 5.86 cubic feet per second or 2,639 gallons per minute. Accuracy of the measurement is considered good since very little variation in velocity across the discharge pipe was found. Since I have taken several other measurements and this certified measurement is being provided to you, it is requested that the measuring device requirement on this permit be waived in accordance with the policy of the Department of Water Resources.

If you need any additional information, please feel free to contact me at any time.

Dear Mr. Shaw:

Enclosed you will find a certified measurement for water well #5 submitted to you by Mr. Sherl Chapman our consultant on water matters. Also enclosed is the proof of beneficial use card which you require in order to initiate such proof for licensing of our water right. It is my understanding, that the enclosed certified measurement by Mr. Chapman and his request for waiver of the measuring device requirement relieves us of the responsibility for installing inline meters or other measuring devices on the irrigation system.

If any further action needs to be taken on this application or proof of beneficial use form, please contact me or our consultant in Boise, Sherl Chapman at 375-6131.

SUBJECT: Certification of Measurement

RECEIVED

MAR 7 1980

Department of Water Resources

The Idaho Department of Corrections' Administrator of Operations requested that I provide you with a certified measurement of the production from water well #5 which is the point of diversion listed under application #63-8088. The well was drilled under my supervision in 1975 and 76 and tested using normal test pumping procedures. In addition, I have subsequently measured the production using a Collins air/water manometer each year since the well has been put into production. The measurement was taken in the discharge pipe in the appropriate section so as to minimize turbulence and interference from valves, turns, and other fixtures. The flow from the well has also been measured using a 12" discharge pipe and 10" orifice plate. On June 25, 1976 I measured the well which was producing 2,409 gallons per minute from a pumping level of 422 feet during the test pumping procedure. After being put into production and tied into the irrigation system, the well was again measured on November 16, 1978 under pressure conditions. Since this date is outside the normal irrigation season, the well was brought up to the sprinkler operating pressure. The flow was measured using the Collins air/water manometer at 5.86 cubic feet per second or 2,639 gallons per minute. Accuracy of the measurement is considered good since very little variation in velocity across the discharge pipe was found. Since I have taken several other measurements and this certified measurement is being provided to you, it is requested that the measuring device requirement on this permit be waived in accordance with the policy of the Department of Water Resources.

If you need any additional information, please feel free to contact me at any time.
