SUBJECT: Site visit to re-measure the spring discharge on 5/23/88

BY: David LePard

On Monday I visited Mr. French's property to re-measure the discharge from the spring that supplies domestic water to French house. The re-measurement was determined to be necessary after the French's neighbor informed the Department that the plumbing arrangement on the French's system may have caused an inaccurate reading at the point where the measurement was taken just above the French's house .

I meet Mr. French at his house and we proceeded to a point above his house where his son had placed a tee and a valve in the line from the spring in a previous attempt to divert water to a planned house above the existing French house. This bifurcation of the spring line is approximately $\frac{1}{4}$ mile below the spring and Mr. French assured me that there was nothing else between that point and the spring.

After digging up the bifurcation we shut the valve on the line to the French house which diverted water to the open line which was to have gone to French's son's house. By placing a 4 gallon bucket below the discharge and measuring the time it took to fill the bucket with a stop watch I was able to determine that the discharge was 1.02 gal/min. I made three measurements of the discharge, the first was 4 gallons in 3 minutes and 55.5 seconds, the second was 4 gallons in 3 minutes and 56 seconds, and the third was 4 gallons in 3 minutes and 57 seconds. I averaged these measurements and divided for the 1.02 gallons per minute.

Since this discharge is considerably less than the 5 gal/min which I measured closer to the French house I feel that we should use the lesser value for the amount allowed on the claim.

INDEXED

JUL 27 1988

French Spring Flow determination

5/23/88

1) 4 gal / 3:55.5

2) 4 gal / 3:56

3 4 gal / 3:57

Flow checked at a bifurcation
 $\frac{3}{4}$ mile below the spring

3:56 = 3.93 min

4 gal / 3.93 min = 1.02 gal/min
