RE: 91-7025

Dear Mr. Suenkel:

There is no need to obtain an easement or permit for occupancy of the bed of the St. Joe River until such time as you plan to begin construction. The Department of Lands has no involvement with your proposed diversion for a potable water supply.

The Department of Lands has no objection to your application for a Diversion Permit per se. Our concern is to insure that the State's title and your installation in the St. Joe River are protected in the long run.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Perkins:

RE 91-7025

received your letter today about temporary Permit for diversion of water from St Joe River. I called Alan of water resource and discussed this with him and he gave me some good advice. so this permit I apply for, the part about the St Joe.
I want used any diversion from the St Joe for 5 years or more - something I figure on doing when I retire - the use of river water to irrigate some bottom land - now I understand the need for the permit and I would like to hold off on applying for it till the time comes when I will use it. so if I could get the permit on water resource, then I would apply to you people when the time comes for me to use the St Joe.
but I would like the permit on No Name Creek for domestic use - as we would use this part of property for summer cottage.

Yours Truly
