Dear Al:

As per my telephone conversation with John, I am sending two beneficial use cards that need to be completed before the water licenses can be issued. Since the systems are completed, we might as well get the paperwork finished also.

One of the water right filings listed on the map you sent us appears to be incorrect. What you list as 94-7172, we have as 94-7170. If this is more than just a transcription error, let me know so we can straighten it out.

If you have any questions, please contact me.

Dear Dave:

Swan Lake Dike Repairs--D94-7181

Enclosed is an updated set of plans for reconstruction of the Swan Lake control structure. Following is a reply to your letter of October 17, 1980.

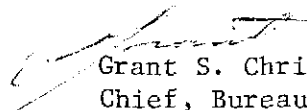

1. Construction logs of the project are enclosed. The existing dike is presently adequate and has been functioning well. It is well vegetated and stable.
2. The normal annual runoff situation can be described as follows: In the early spring the Coeur d'Alene River rises to about elevation 2136 and floods most of the valley floor, including dikes, with moderately slow-moving water. The water subsides to a summer elevation of 2128 which is regulated by Washington Water Power. As the river drops, the water flows out of the valley into the Coeur d'Alene River and withdraws from the nearby lakes and sloughs. The dike and control structures will prevent the withdrawal of water from Swan Lake and will stabilize the water elevation within at 2128. The water surface of uncontrolled lakes and sloughs will slowly fall to about 2126 in late summer and fall. The existing dike and control structures will handle high flows by spreading the water over the long dike and reducing velocity and erosion potential. The facility will easily handle low flow conditions by holding back two feet of water beyond the unrestrained capacity.
3. The minimum piling cutoff depths extend more than five feet into undisturbed materials. The structure is additionally supported by riprap material to within eight inches of crest. The maximum retaining height is less than two feet.

Mr. Dave Hollingshead
November 30, 1982

4. The foundation material is a saturated silty clay and clay. Riprap was concrete panels and rock greater than six inches in diameter.
5. See reply to question 3.
6. Section information is approximated on the title sheet of the plans.
7. The storage was originally estimated to be 3400 acre feet. Recent computations show the storage capacity should be stated at 2640 acre feet. According to present fee schedules, the permit fee should be $1,164. Fish and Game has already paid $660, leaving an unpaid balance of $504. A DA-8 for this amount is being processed.

If you have any questions, please contact us at 334-3730. Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Dear Bob:

The Department of Lands has no objection to the application to appropriate water for wildlife purposes. The applicant must however obtain a permit to install the outlet structure on state land even though the applicant is lessee. The Department of Fish and Game is being so advised.

Thank you for the opportunity to review this application.
