Terry,

IDWR sent Mr. Hansen a proof due notice on May 31, 2005, and a lapse notice on August 10, 2005. Both went to the Cherry Lane address. IDWR sent the proof due notice by certified mail, but it went unclaimed.

The permit can be reinstated if your client provides the following items:

- A proof of beneficial use statement with the new address on it
- An examination fee or a field report completed by a certified water rights examiner
- At least two pieces of evidence demonstrating that the permitted water use was established by August 1, 2005
- A statement of "reasonable cause" why the proof is late

Because more than 60 days has passed since proof of beneficial was due, the priority date of the permit will be advanced to the date that satisfactory proof of beneficial use is submitted to IDWR.

Please call or email if you need more information.

Subject: Help! - Lapsed Permit 65-13933

Shelley –

My client Dan Hansen called me today to discuss submitting proof on his two irrigation water right permits, 65-13933 and 65-31261. I looked up the permits and found that 65-13933 had lapsed. Proof was due August 1, 2005. Proof for 65-31261 is due October 1, 2006.

Can you determine if a proof due notice was sent to him? Is there any record of delivery? He has told me that he did not receive a notice. My guess is that the proof due notice was sent to his old address on Cherry Lane. His new mailing address is 1717 E. Chisholm Drive, Nampa, ID 83687.

Mr. Hansen completed development this summer under permit 65-13933 and is near completion on 65-31261. I will prepare a proof of beneficial use for his signature ASAP, and send it in. Is there anything else we need to do to get the permit reinstated?
