RE: Conversation with the permit holder, Marc Agostini

Last week Marc Agostini, the holder of Permit 67-14433, called me to discuss the measuring device and lockable controlling works requirement on his permit to divert water from Cove Creek, a tributary of the Weiser River. He said that he has not installed a measuring device and lockable controlling works, and he wanted to know if the requirement could be waived. I explained that IDWR would, in some circumstances, waive a measuring device and lockable controlling works requirement if the watermaster of the water district concurred. I recommended that Mr. Agostini call Bosco Bosler, the watermaster of Water District 67, who regulates the diversions of water in the Weiser River drainage. Mr. Agostini said that he would call Mr. Bosler, and he asked that IDWR waive the measuring device and lockable controlling works requirement if at all possible.
