5. jroberts 11/10/2005 Comment/Analysis

Comment: Transfers were originally filed to change the point of diversion and source on three water rights. When it was determined that the transfers, in changing the source would also change the drainage and basin of the rights, could not be processed, the transfers were withdrawn and applications for permit were filed. The transfer filing fees were applied to the permits. This system has already been put in and approval will make it legal.
