Re: City of Salmon diversion

I have enclosed the graph from the City of Salmon showing their water use from the Jesse Creek diversion over a period of six and one-half years. As we had discussed in our telephone conversation, we may still need to determine a method of actually measuring the flow through the pipe delivery system. I will pursue this matter with the Jesse Creek Watermaster and hopefully we can determine a suitable place where we could possibly use a polysonic meter to obtain a measurement.
