Dear Ladies:

We have received the Application for Permit and Claim to a Water Right recently submitted for two domestic purposes from one well.

If you have a well which has supplied water to two domestic homes for the same number of years, (since November 1977), the claim can be filed with the two uses listed.

However, if the well was drilled for one home and the other home was added at a later date, then it is not required by Idaho law that you file any water rights. Each use, if added separately, is considered to be a single family domestic use, and single domestic uses are exempt from filing.

If you still wish to make the filing uses a matter of record, and they were added to the well separately, then two claims must be filed; one claim with the date the well was used by the first home, and the other claim with the later date at which the second home was added.

We will hold the claim submitted along with the $30 filing fee until we hear from you. We are returning the Application for Permit to you as it would not be the correct form to file. Enclosed is an additional Claim to a Water Right to be completed, and returned with the $30 filing fee. If the two uses were began at the same time, please contact us and we will complete the claim with the two uses listed.

If you have any questions concerning this matter, please contact us.

Sincerely,

JAN ROVER
Senior Water Resource Agent

Mrs. Amux stated that the claim should be for reparation of the well which is on her mother's property (Gifford). This will be the only filing as Mrs. Gifford does not want to file. This house was put in in 1978 & I have changed the priority date to reflect the change.
