You were provided the proper forms and information in our letters to you dated December 5, 17 and 30, 1985.

Your permit cannot be reinstated unless you submit an acceptable proof of beneficial use along with an amendment form. The completed proof of beneficial use form and amendment must be received by this office within sixty days of the date of mailing of this lapse notice or the permit will no longer be of any force or effect.

A proof of beneficial use form and a amendment form are again enclosed for your use. Please note that a fee must accompany the amendment.

Re: Permit No. 65-12341

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Dudley:

I have received and reviewed your letter of December 22, 1985 in connection with the above-referenced permit. I will try to answer your questions and provide you with some additional information.

The use which the Department terms "domestic" by definition includes water for household use or livestock... including irrigation of up to one-half acre of land in connection with the household where total use does not exceed 13,000 gallons per day. This definition is found in Section 42-230d, Idaho Code. For this reason, a use authorized as "domestic" would include the irrigation you described in your letter assuming the land irrigated is less than one-half acre.

In order to change the "stockwater" use authorized by the permit to a "domestic" use, you need to file an amendment with the Department. The flat fee for filing any amendment with the Department is ~~$30~~ ^{20.00}.

As I described in my December 5, 1985 letter, the fee for filing a new application up to the amount of 0.20 cfs (approximately 90 gpm) is also $30. This application fee is a pro-rated fee based on the rate of diversion applied for. Your maximum use of water for the irrigation of all of your five acres would be in the minimum fee category of $30. If an application is filed, the priority is the date the completed application and fee is received by the Department.

Enclosed is an amendment form for your use if you choose to change the stockwater use to domestic use. Also enclosed is an application for permit form, should you intend to irrigate more than one-half acre of land.

I hope this information will be of assistance to you.

Sincerely,

L. GLEN SAXTON

Re: Permit No. 65-12341

Dear Mr. Saxton,

Thank you for your letter of Dec. 17, 1985 in regards to our water right permit.

Perhaps a description of our water use is appropriate. Besides household use, we use water to irrigate a dozen fruit trees and a small garden, not our entire 5 acres of land, by any means. (half of which is forested).

Does this usage require a permit for both domestic and irrigation uses?

If so, we would choose to file a new application to include both domestic and irrigation uses. However, we feel that an additional $300 fee is unnecessarily costly.

Sincerely,

David & Mary Dudley

Re: Permit No. 65-12341

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Dudley:

I have received your letter dated December 10, 1985 in response to my December 5, 1985 letter which describes several options you could follow to complete the development of a water right.

Your existing permit was approved with a rate of diversion of 0.02 cfs (approximately 9 gallons per minute) for stockwater purposes. The use can be changed from stockwater to domestic by the filing of an amendment, but the permit cannot be enlarged in extent of use. If irrigation use is proposed to be added to your existing permit, the scope of use would be enlarged and could not be approved.

Your permit has been "updated" as far as the ownership of the permit is concerned, but the original use of the permit (stockwater) has not yet been changed or updated.

The purpose of my letter dated December 5, 1985 was not to solicit a $30 fee from you, but rather to describe your options, some of which involve the submittal of fees.

At this point, I do not know which of the options you choose to follow. The proof of beneficial use form which you submitted on August 12, 1985, showing domestic use and irrigation of 5 acres cannot be accepted by the Department unless an appropriate amendment changing the stockwater use to domestic use is submitted. As described above, irrigation cannot be added to this amendment.

Water right statutes are often not straight-forward and of an understandable nature. If there is still a question on this matter, please feel free to call or write me in order that we can further discuss the matter. My direct phone number is 334-4410.

Re: Permit No. 65-12341

Dear Mr. Saxton,

Thank you for sending the information on our water right file.

Since we have a permit already filed, and have already updated the permit as requested, we feel that an additional $30⁰⁰ fee to file a new application to include both domestic and irrigation uses is unnecessary and should not be required.

Sincerely,

Mr. and Mrs. David J. Dudley

Re: Permit No. 65-12341

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Dudley:

As a follow-up to Mrs. Dudley's telephone call to me on November 30, 1985, I have reviewed the above-referenced water right file and related correspondence which was recently sent to you.

My review and analysis of the water right file shows several alternatives for completion of the water right process described as follows:

- A. You can submit an application for amendment to change the stockwater use on the permit to domestic use. The amendment fee is $30. This alternative would not allow you to include the irrigation of five (5) acres on the amendment, however. The irrigation use would need to be submitted on a second application for permit. Such a new filing would also require the submittal of a $30 filing fee.
- B. You could file a new application to include both domestic and irrigation as uses. The total filing fee to do this would be $30. This alternative assumes existing Permit No. 65-12341 would not be pursued and would become of no force nor effect.
- C. If by chance, the spring is wholly contained on your land and does not ever flow off your property, the spring can be considered "private water" for which no filings are required for your diversion and use of the water. Even though you wouldn't be required to file, most people choose to do so in order that their use is recorded with the state.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Dudley:

Re: Permit No. 65-12341

On August 12, 1985, the department received a proof of beneficial use form for the above referenced permit. In comparing the file with the form, I found several discrepancies.

For your reference, enclosed is a copy of the permit along with a copy of the proof form. Note the extent of use proposed on the permit is stockwater for 23 head. The uses indicated on the proof form are domestic and irrigation of 5 acres. Is it possible there has been a change in nature of use? Or, do you have another permit for with the source as spring which proposes domestic and irrigation uses?

I will hold action on this permit until December 15. Please review the enclosed documents and advise me why there is this discrepancy. I've taken the liberty of enclosing another proof form.

If you have any questions concerning your water right, please feel free to contact this office.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Dudley:

This office acknowledges receipt of the Assignment of the above referenced permit to you.

Enclosed for your records is a copy of the permit. Be sure to note the special conditions of approval on the fourth page that identify requirements necessary for developing the permit into a licensed water right.

The 1982 Idaho Legislature added a requirement to your permit. Because of the change, you must commence the excavation and construction of the diverting works for your permit no later than July 1, 1983. The statute further requires that you then proceed with due diligence in completing the diverting works and applying the water to beneficial use.

To maintain the validity of your permit, you must return the Commencement of Works postcard for your permit subject to the requirement. Note that on the card you can indicate that either (1) you have commenced construction or (2) you have been prevented from initiating development due to a factor beyond your control, such as the Idaho Power Moratorium, a required approval of the Federal Government, or litigation which prevents development of the project. Please note the recent purchase of the land is not considered a reason for prevention from initiating development under this permit. Enclosed you will find the Commencement of Works postcard. Please return this card to our office no later than July 1, 1983.

If you have any questions on this matter, please feel free to contact us.
