Gentlemen:

Thank you for your letter of October 2, 1968. If your well is to be used for other than a single families domestic use and your rate of diversion is to exceed 0.02 c.f.s., state law requires that you obtain a permit before you divert water from a well. In your application you stated that the water will be used for up to a maximum of 10 homes. I do not feel that there is any doubt that this well requires a permit.

Under State law, once a filing fee has been paid there is no way in which we can refund the money. Even if you plan to utilize the water from the well for only a single families purposes, I would recommend that you continue with the permit. Such a course would document your water right. If you pursue some other course, it may be that at some other time you would have to establish in court the same thing that you can now establish by this permit.

We will maintain your application on file until we have heard further from you on the matter.

Very truly yours,

C. Stephen Allred, Assistant
State Reclamation Engineer

Dear Sir:

Please accept our apology for not answering your letters sooner.

After making our original application, we were told that it would not be necessary to get a permit to drill a well for domestic use only.
Since the land on which we are building has irrigation water rights, we would not require any water from the well to irrigate.

Would you please cancel our application and refund
the $10.00?

Thank you,

Re: Application for Permit No. 21-7005

Gentlemen:

We are in receipt of your application to appropriate the public waters of the State of Idaho. Please be advised that before we may continue processing the application we will require some additional information.

You have listed under Item 5 of the application, home use and lawn sprinkling from January 1 to December 31. A more computable description for the home use listing would be domestic purposes from January 1 to December 31 and if you would instruct the department to do so, we would be glad to change your description.

As for lawn sprinkling, the department formally would allow a small amount for irrigation to accompany a single family dwelling request for domestic water. However, you have inserted under 8b of the application that you are going to irrigate 16 acres of ground. For any irrigation over 1/2 acre of ground, the department requires the permit to be designated for irrigation purposes listing the irrigation season of each year for which the water would be diverted. Your assistance in these matters is appreciated.

It is also noted under the map that the land appears to be in the NE 1/4, sec. 11. If the lands irrigated are to be in this section, please instruct the department to insert the proper information as to the lands irrigated in section 8 b of the application stating the township, range, section and the number of acres in each subdivision that will be irrigated.

Your prompt attention to these matters will be appreciated.
