Dear Ken:

I am writing to you in behalf of my client, Rex S. Jensen and water right No. 63-~~7579~~⁷⁵³⁹. This application has been approved, the proof due date has been passed, and proof has been submitted. However, measuring devices have not been installed.

My client is convinced that measuring devices can serve as a very effective management tool. However, in this case, we believe that the measuring devices would serve no purpose. The two wells that are subject to this permit serve a stockyard. This stockyard sometimes has but a few head of cattle in the yard and at other times has a sizable number of cattle in it. One or both wells are turned on only as the livestock need water. Measuring of the water would not effect the decision as to how to water the stock and the amount of water totally diverted annually is small. It does not represent a measurable decrease in the ground water resources of this area.

The installation of the measuring device would be expensive because the system was actually in service prior to the application for water rights being filed. The small pipe lines from the well were buried below the frost line even before the application was filed.

We hope that you will concur that the measuring device will serve no practical purpose and allow us to avoid the unnecessary expenses.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Jensen:

One of the conditions of approval of your water Permit No. 63-7539 (see last page of your approved permit) was that evidence of the extent of development be submitted as proof of application of water to beneficial use to this office on or before April 1, 1973. Enclosed is an affidavit form which must be used to submit the required proof of beneficial use.

If you have not fully completed your project, and you have not previously received an extension of time, you may request an extension of time provided the delay is for reasonable cause as indicated in Section 42-204, Idaho Code, amended. If you have been prevented from proceeding by a governmental agency or by litigation, more than one extension of time can be granted.

Either the beneficial use affidavit or a request for an extension of time must be received by this Department on or before the above mentioned date, otherwise the permit will lapse and be of no further force or effect.

Director
