Water Use Information for Weisshaupt-Brusher Farm

Prepared by August Weisshaupt, March 3, 1983

The Weisshaupt-Brusher farm consists almost entirely of the Northwest Quarter of Section Thirty-five, Township Five North, Range One East of the Boise Meridian, County of Ada, in the State of Idaho.

This land was homesteaded by Jacob Motto in 1878. The next deed found indicates that a David S. Potter sold the land to Len Dobson in May of 1920. It was purchased from Dobson by Walter Odermott in December of 1925. My grandfather, Julius Jeker, took over the farm in November of 1936.

Some of the nearby farmers (Warren B. Buchanan Sr., and Julius Jeker (Jr.)) have told me that Spring Creek was caused to be aligned south to its present course, by artificial means of diversion, before 1900. This diversion would have begun at a point approximately seven hundred feet north of the south section line of Section Twenty-six. The old stream would have flowed just one hundred feet south of the present home of Warren B. Buchanan Sr., then to a point about seventeen-hundred feet west of the southeast corner of Section Twenty-six (northwest corner of Section Thirty-five), then southwest through the present farm to the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of Section Thirty-five, and continued on to Dry Creek.

The length of Spring Creek below the described diversion point is less than one third what its original length would have been. Also the elevation of the creek was placed higher, permitting more efficient diversion of irrigation water. This, and the shortening of the creek would have greatly increased the productivity of the farm land.

A United States Geological Survey map of Ada County, dated 1897, is in the mapping department in the Ada County Courthouse. Spring Creek, as drawn on the map, has the same path as at present. Apparently then, the diversion was done some time between 1878 and 1897.

Some irrigation undoubtedly occurred soon after the land was homesteaded. The creeks weren't washed as large, and were much closer to the elevation of the surrounding land. Diversion was usually done by construction of a crude brush dam. Fairly intensive farming probably did not occur on the north side of Dry Creek until the diversion of Spring Creek was accomplished. Dry Creek water was diverted at the same point now in use, and the water conveyed to the land south of the creek by the ditch that parallels Dry Creek. At this time, I have no knowledge of Dry Creek water being used on the north side of Dry Creek on this farm before 1926.

Walter Odermott built a flume across Dry Creek about two hundred feet west of the present location of Highway 55. This enabled him to bring Dry Creek water across to the land north of the creek. He constructed a network of ditches on the north side of Dry Creek, using this water on as many acres as possible. The irrigation ditches are basically in this form today, with slight changes being done by land leveling.

The original concrete header at the inlet (south) end of the flume, has the markings: " W O 26 " (Walter Odermott, 1926). This is now under a small portion of concrete, as the flume was raised six inches on both ends in 1979, as part of a renovation project.

IN RE: Proof of Water Right by Helen Weisshaupt and Margaret Brusher to the Waters of Dry Creek and Spring Creek, Ada County, Idaho

This affidavit is made in connection with a claim of water right by Helen Weisshaupt and Margaret Brusher to the waters of Dry Creek and Spring Creek in Ada County, Idaho, beneficially used for the purpose of irrigation of approximately 122 acres of land which they own located in the West Half of Section Thirty-five (35) in Township Five (5) North of Range One (1) East of the Boise Meridian, in Ada County, Idaho.

The diversion point in Spring Creek is located in the Southwest Quarter (SW $\frac{1}{4}$) of the Southeast Quarter (SE $\frac{1}{4}$) of Section Twenty-six (26), approximately Six Hundred (600) feet east of the Quarter Section line, and approximately One Hundred (100) feet North of the South Section line.

The diversion point for Dry Creek is in the Northwest Quarter (NW $\frac{1}{4}$) of the Northeast Quarter (NE $\frac{1}{4}$) of Section Thirty-five (35), approximately Eight Hundred and Fifty (850) feet East of the Quarter Section line, and approximately Twelve Hundred (1200) feet South of the North Section line.

BEN DOBSON, being first duly sworn on oath, deposes and says:

As a small boy and young man I lived with my father,
Len Dobson, on the real property now owned by Helen Weisshaupt and Margaret Brusher, and during the years 1920 through 1925
I saw my father, Len Dobson, divert water from Spring Creek at the diversion point above described and water from Dry Creek also at the diversion point above described for the purpose of irrigating crops growing on the described real property. The water from Spring Creek was used in the spring and early summer until the flow of water ceased in the summertime, and the water from Dry Creek was used in the spring and early summer and until the flow was so low that the water could no longer be diverted for irrigation purposes. I further know of my own knowledge that from 1926 until 1937 a farmer by the name of Walter Odermott continued to irrigate the described land from both Spring Creek and Dry Creek using the same points of diversion, and thereafter, beginning in 1937 that Julius Jeker continued the irrigation and beneficial use of the water from the described points of diversion.

MICROFILMED

I make this affidavit from my own personal knowledge for the purpose of establishing that water was diverted from both Spring Creek and Dry Creek for the purpose of irrigating the lands now owned by Helen Weisshaupt and her sister, Margaret Brusher.

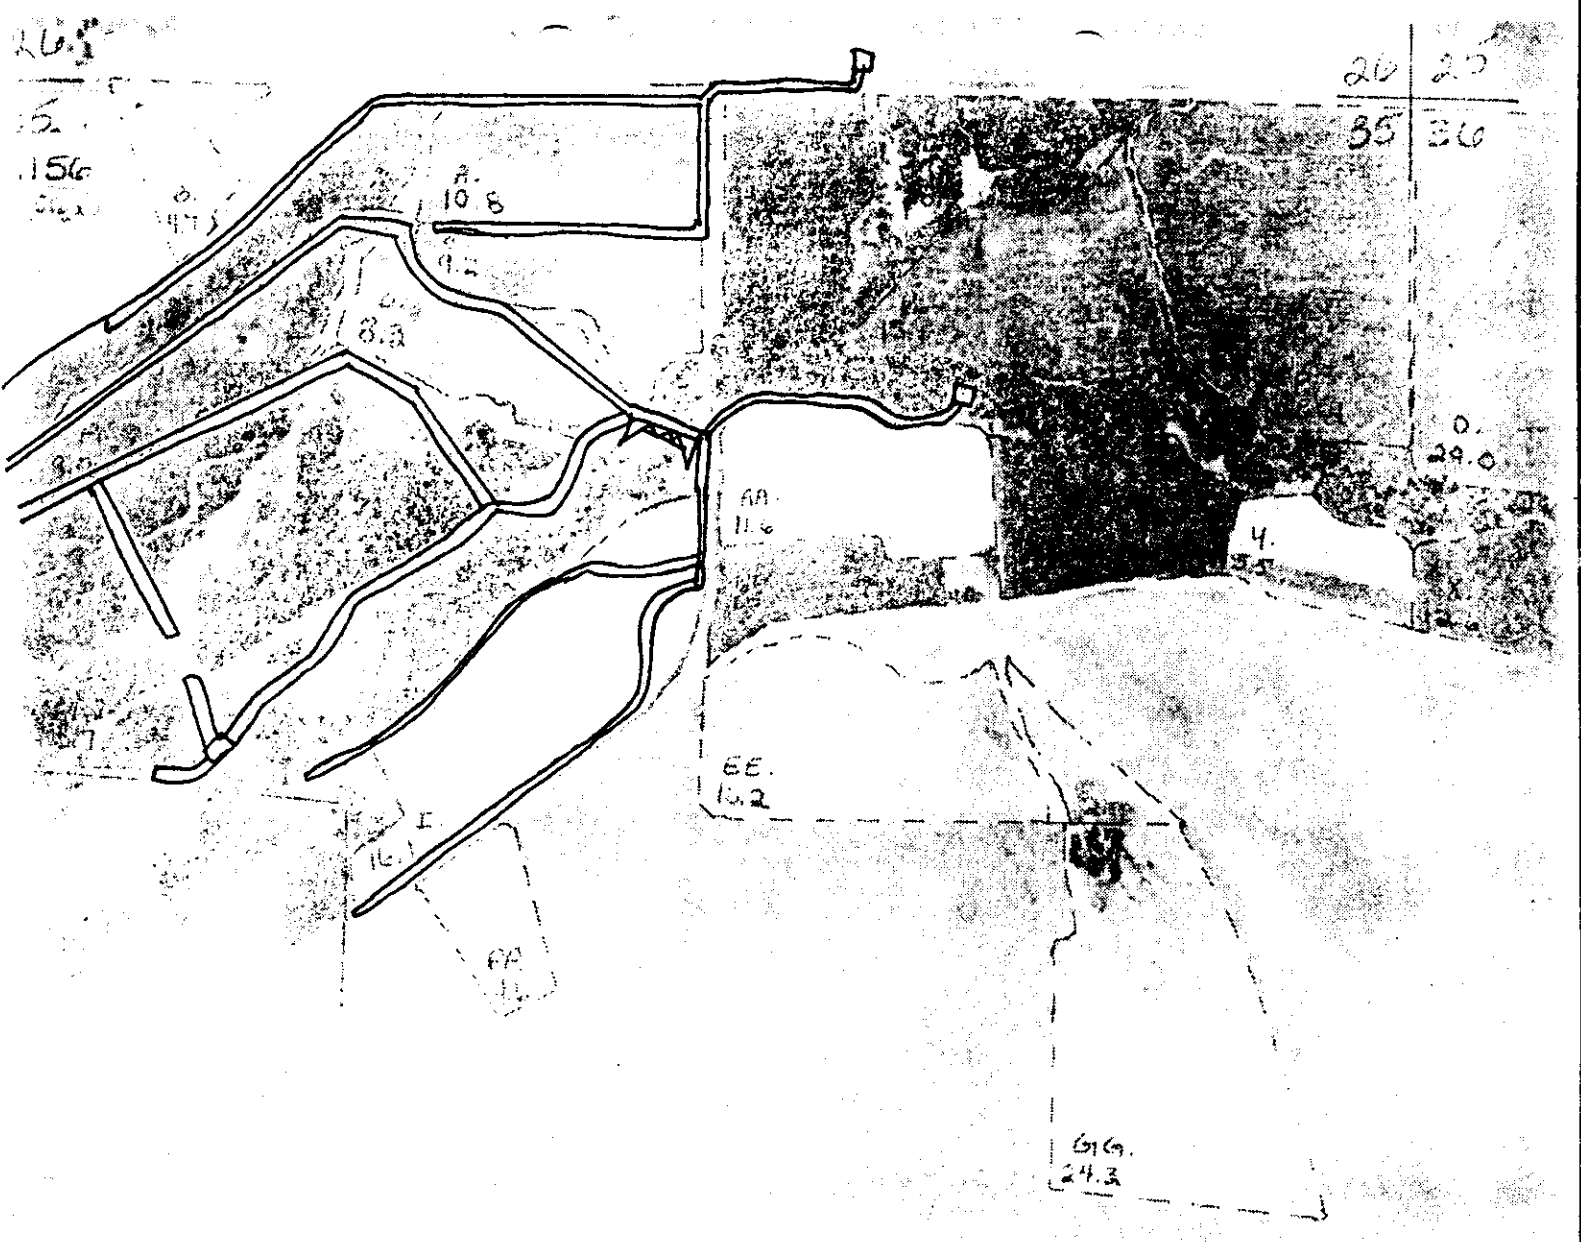

DATED this 2nd day of March, 1983.
