SUPPLEMENTAL STATEMENT re 8.

Karney Lakes Club was incorporated as a non-profit Idaho corporation on September 6, 1928. Membership certificates are issued to members entitling them to own one cabin or summer home and share equally in the real estate holdings and other properties owned by the corporation. In 1929, the club purchased 160 acres of the land it now owns, including appurtenant water rights. The land had previously been farmed with a portion, suitable therefor, being irrigated.

Immediately following the land purchase the club members commenced building summer homes and constructed the original water system from some of the springs that are covered by this claim of water right. The original system has been repaired, replaced and enlarged as additional homes were built. While some of the original homes have been rebuilt or remodelled, there have been no additional homes built since 1943. The original water storage tank constructed by concrete was replaced about 1940 by a wooden tank. This wooden tank was supplemented about 1950 with one 10,000 gallon metal tank and a second 10,000 gallon metal tank was added about 1970. The wooden tank has since been dismantled.

There have been no extensions of the water system since 1940 except pipe replacements, adding of storage capacity, improving the collection boxes at the springs and developing two additional springs to add to the system. Even with these improvements, the club has suffered water shortages in dry years, particularly in 1977.

The springs do not provide a sufficient supply of water to maintain a stream of water in the mountain draw in which they are located to reach Robie Creek. The Club ~~diverts~~ and uses the entire water supply from the springs, which as previously stated has from time to time been insufficient to furnish the cabins with a constant supply of water.

STATEMENT re 5-B.

The six springs are all located in an unnamed draw that leads southerly to Robie Creek. Four of the six springs have small collection boxes that divert the spring waters through one-inch metal pipelines to the lower spring. From the lower spring the water is transported through a four-inch plastic pipeline a distance of approximately a quarter of a mile to two 10,000 gallon metal storage tanks shown on the map. From the storage tanks the water is distributed through a series of 1½-inch metal pipe to various major distribution points in the area adjacent to the 29 cabins located around Karney Lakes. From these major distribution lines, ¾-inch metal pipes extend to each of the 29 cabins furnishing the domestic water supply for each cabin. The maps attached show the location of the springs, the pipeline leading to the storage tanks, the distribution system from the tanks and the individual pipelines leading to the cabins. The waters from the springs are for the domestic use of the cabin owners only. Karney Lakes Club owns the real estate on which the springs, the diversion works, storage tanks, distribution system, and summer homes are located. The lakes are supplied by water diverted from Karney Creek by means of an open ditch. Karney Lakes Club now has a permit for the use of the waters of Karney Creek to supply the lakes then flow back into Karney Creek.
