Dear Mr. Carter:

On December 18, it was scheduled to have a hearing for the proof of completion of works and application of water to beneficial use on the above named individual. However, erroneous information was given to us and the applicant is not ready to make his final proof at this time, as he has just completed the well and has not applied the water to the beneficial use. Therefore, we will not have the hearing as scheduled, but we will make a proper filing with the Bureau of Land Management to allow Mr. Jarolimek to clear the land, and it will be some time next year when we make the final proof as is required by the state regulations.

We are extremely sorry for this mix-up, but we acted upon information passed on to us, and if there is further information that I should have in regard to this, please advise.
