Department of Water Resources

Dear Sir:

This letter is to comment on the 1952 revision of an abstract for Cannon Creek, Water District 75-D, which is included herein.

The revision is accurate and agrees with my interpretation of the 1902 decrees and exchange agreements. The exchange rights are probably most deserving of specific mention. The names listed with an asterisk are the ones which presently receive exchange water with one exception. Each named person/place receives 45 inches of water except Theodore Bottom and Edward O. Clark who each get 1/2 share or 23 1/2 mineral inches of water. All exchange water is considered 183d water as a matter of practicality.

The exception is the Peter McKinney right which is delivered to no one presently. Sometime shortly after 1902, Peter McKinney purchased the lands of William Smith and Robert Martin and apparently transferred his share to these lands. At least, the old water masters' records show these lands receiving 3 shares until about 1957. No official record of this transaction has been found but old timers testify to its use, if not truth. About 1957, the State Department of Reclamation told the water master to turn off the exchange rights to four - the water users to come to an agreement as to where the Peter McKinney right was to be used. The water master just shut the Peter McKinney right off. That is the current status of this right.

Sincerely yours,
Harold Anderson

Dear Mr. McFarland:

We have had an opportunity to review your recent letter discussing the abstract of water rights on Carmen Creek prepared by our state office. The abstract, as I previously indicated, was prepared based on the Department's record.

Subsequent to receipt of your letter the Department's records for WD# 75-D were reexamined but we were unable to locate documentation substantiating that the Department of Reclamation advised the watermaster to cease delivery of the McKinney exchange water. If there is any evidence in your water district records confirming the watermaster received instruction from the Department of Reclamation, a copy of these documents would be appreciated. Also, Dave, our state office is interested to know what problems you anticipate would arise if delivery of the McKinney exchange water was reestablished.

The information you provide regarding the above matters will be an important supplement to the Department's records. Therefore, we will be eagerly awaiting your reply.

Respectfully submitted,
