Siemens 5000 Series

GrowSmart Meters

8

If you have these meters, they need to be protected from the elements!

Unprotected Siemens Sitrans F M Mag 5100 W or 5000

Unprotected McCrometer Ultra Mag

Protected meter head, this is probably the best that we have seen in the field.

"No direct sunlight exposure"
Unprotected Siemens 8000

Approved Installations

Siemens Sitrans 5100W 5000 Series. External power needed, internally grounded, install vertically. Protect meter readout from weather.

Siemens Sitrans F M Mag 8000, battery operated, external power not needed, internally grounded. Protect meter readout from weather.

McCrometer Duramag, battery operated but requires external DC power supply, grounding wires required.

Field Season Review

- All measuring devices should be inspected by the owner/operator prior to the beginning of the irrigation season and at other interim times. IDWR staff will be doing spot checks during the irrigation season and notifying owner/operators of any deficiencies or maintenance issues. Owner/operators will be given a limited time to fix any issue.
- Meters with batteries: Make sure batteries are checked prior to beginning of irrigation season. Replace them if indicator shows $\frac{1}{2}$ or less power remaining (check with your dealer/manufacturer). Most battery life on approved meters is listed as 3 to 5 years. We are starting to see the Lindsay GrowSmart meters with blank displays which is probably a result of a dead battery.

Snake River Plain Aquifer

The Snake River Plain controls the economy of much of southern Idaho, north and west of Pocatello. Three million acres of farmland on the Snake River Plain are irrigated, with approximately one third from wells and the remaining two thirds from canals.

12

Eastern Snake River Plain Aquifer Recharge

The 2018 Recharge program set a record by recharging more than 525,000 acre-feet of water into the aquifer, doubling the annual goal. The Snake River plain aquifer rose by more than 1.7 million acre-feet in one year, the largest single-year increase in 8 decades. The Recharge Board has committed to recharging an average of 250,000 acre-feet of water into the ESPA each year. 2019 was the third consecutive year to exceed the annual goal. There are more than 25 recharge basins/sites in the ESPA.

Recharge for the 20/21 is reported to have been 130,463 AF.

Upper Valley Recharge Site?

The Idaho Water Resource Board has earmarked $75 million of funding to build a recharge site in the Upper Valley. These funds are a portion of the $195 million in federal American Rescue Act funding. On Feb. 11, the board's Aquifer Stabilization Committee will hear a consultant's presentation regarding a study of three possible options for an Upper Valley site.

Two of the proposals would entail building pipelines and pumping water to a spill basin—adding power bills to the cost of recharging water.

Project 1: Pass a pipeline beneath Interstate 15 and transport water to a spill basin within the lava flows of Hell's Half Acre, located between Idaho Falls and Blackfoot.

Project 2: A pipeline that would pump water from the Roberts area to a spill basin near Mud Lake. However, cost of materials to build a pipeline have risen dramatically in recent months. Estimates for this project were around $70 million in November of 2021 and are now more than $300 million.

Project 3: The third project being considered would avoid the need for pumping. Water would be gravity fed west of the state's current Egin Bench recharge site into a spill basin in close by lava fields.

Cost wise, State officials believe the Egin Basin site remains a viable option and would add between 150 CFS and 350 CFS of Upper Valley recharge capacity.

Several other small projects that would add up to 50 CFS of recharge capacity each are also being considered.

14

2021 Field Season Review

- Flow meter calibrations

Non approved meters that received a variance will need to be calibrated every 3 years. (Primarily subdivisions and municipalities)

- End of the year readings

Power to non-battery flow meters needs to be left on through the end of November so readings can be obtained. Meters need to be wired so that when the pump is turned off during irrigation season the meter power is still on allowing meters be read.

- Flow meter inspections

Flow meter spot checks and mid and end of year meter readings found meters that were not working. Owners should be receiving letters from the Boise IDWR Office concerning the nonworking meters. These meters need to be repaired and working by the beginning of the 2022 irrigation season.

Farm & food sectors have massive impact on U.S. & Idaho economy

According to the Financial Condition report, Idaho farmers and ranchers brought in $8.88 billion in farm cash receipts during 2021, which was 9 percent higher than the 2020 total and above the previous record of $8.79 billion set in 2014.

Idaho's top crop, potatoes, brought in a record $1 billion in cash receipts during 2021, according to the report. That was an 8 percent increase over 2020.

Cash receipts for Idaho's wheat industry totaled $560 million in 2021, a 3 percent increase, and cash receipts for the state's hay farmers totaled $554 million, a 21 percent increase compared with 2020.

Idaho sugar beet farmers brought in $396 million during 2021, 19 percent more than during 2020, and Idaho barley growers brought in $246 million in cash receipts last year, a 3 percent increase.
