MEMO

TO: COLOMBO CLAIM
FROM: G. TAYLOR

Mr. & Mrs. Colombo explained to me that Russell Sorenson owned the property that they now own and also built the pond that is north and west of their property. The natural stream channel that is formed by the springs run-off has always gone through their property and has been used to water stock since the land was homesteaded. Currently Mr. Sorenson's son owns the pond and land adjacent and uses the natural channel as an overflow when he is not irrigating.

Dear Sirs:

The UNNAMED STREAM is from a spring which was developed by Russell Sorenson with the construction of a reservoir on his private property with two diversion points.

This water source has been controlled, monitored, and used by the Sorenson Family for over 59 years. The excess water has always been shared by the neighbors with the Sorenson Family regulating the flow.

When I, Darrell H. Sorenson purchased the property, I filed for a Water Right License (Water Right No. 11-07162) which was issued for irrigation of 25 acres of land from the two points of diversion.

I feel that it is essential that I control the water flow not only to provide for the requirements of irrigation but to also control and prevent unnecessary erosion and damage to the stream and pond below the reservoir during the entire year.

Darrell H. Sorenson Ranch

I feel that this is an unjust claim as the amount of excess water varies so from year to year and season to season. I have never refused the excess water to the neighbors for their needs, however I feel that a specified amount of water should not be granted as it could effect my water rights and others needs.

The above named who are requesting water rights, have NO investment in the original development of the spring or construction of the reservoir and from that point have not participated in any of the related maintenance costs. I feel that the claim to water rights by Frank Colombo and Lucille Colombo should be denied.

Sincerely.

The UNNAMED STREAM is from a spring which was developed by Russell Sorenson with the construction of a reservoir on his private property with two diversion points. One of these two diversions runs off of the Sorenson Property on to the Jensen property. This water then runs to our corrals as stock water. We are filing this exception to the Colombo filing because we are afraid of infringing on the water that Sorensens so graciously share to us for our animals. It is my understanding that this water was filed on by Sorensens some time ago and that this water is theirs to do as they see fit.
