RE: Claim of Lorraine Kent and) Water Right No. 15-4008)

AFFIDAVIT

Comes now Clarence Kent who, after being first duly sworn, deposes and says: My name is Clarence Kent. I do hereby file exception to the above referenced claim for water right in the amount of 0.04 c.f.s. from an unnamed spring tributary to Dairy Creek on the following grounds:

1. All waters tributary to Dairy Creek arising within Section 23, Township 11 South, Range 34 EBM, Oneida County, have been previously appropriated and have been continuously used by this affiant and his predecessor in interest at least since 1928.

2. All of said waters are now incorporated in a sprinkler irrigation system of this affiant.

3. Granting of applicant's application would seriously deplete the waters used in the said sprinkler irrigation system to the extent that he would suffer irreparable damage and loss through diminished water flow.

4. This affiant denies claim of applicant to have used such water for stock watering purposes in that this affiant denies that claimant has maintained cattle or animals in said area and specifically denies that claimant has ever had 200 head of cattle watering from said stream at any time since 1920.

Mr. J. W. Crowther
Attorney at Law

Dear Mr. Crowther:

Please find enclosed the exception you filed against the above claim to a water right on behalf of Clarence Kent.

As I indicated to you in Preston on Wednesday, the claim is simply evidence of a right that has been established through the diversion and beneficial use of water. An exception to a claim should point out inaccuracies or errors that exist in the claim as filed. All exceptions are included in the claim file for consideration by the court at any time said right is adjudicated.

Because the affidavit you submitted appears to be more in the form of an objection to a new appropriation than an exception to a proposed record of an existing right, you may wish to review the right as claimed and if your client feels it to be inaccurate, file an exception pointing out these inaccuracies.

If you have any questions concerning this matter, please feel free to contact me.

Very truly yours,

RONALD D. CARLSON
