G. NARRATIVE/REMARKS/COMMENTS

A field investigation was performed to determine the location of the spring and the beneficial use of the spring. The spring is developed with a buried spring box that diverts water to a 500 gal. storage tank. Overflow water is allowed to flow downhill in an intermittent stream. The intermittent stream ends at sinks near the I. Canal. The water from the storage tank is conveyed through a pipeline to a series of five outdoor hydrants. The spring was connected to the original house on the property and was historically used under water right 29-7601 for domestic and stockwater use. The spring water is not connected to the storage pond located in the SENW QQ of Sec. 15, T09S, R38E. The water in the 500 gal. storage tank can be used in times of a fire emergency. The five outdoor hydrants can be used for fire suppression/prevention. The pipeline sourced from the 500 gal. tank is in place to supply an aesthetic feature.

The place of use (POU) for the fire storage will be the location of the 500 gal. tank. The POU for the fire protection from storage will follow the similar POU outlined on the legal description listed on the permit excluding the NESW QQ. This is because there are no outdoor hydrants connected to the spring in that QQ.
