Yes the correction is fine. This is google maps. So yes it is King Creek.
It just amazes me that King Creek is the only creek named and it goes dry, and the other ones run all summer and they don't have a name just blows my mind, but you were correct

Carolyn,

It looks like I need you to confirm or approve the change I made on your application, from our phone call yesterday. The change made was in part 4, showing the point of diversion in the NESWNE Sec 8 T12S R40E. Are you ok with this change?

I also wanted to show you a map with the Creek layer overlapping. So you can see what I see. I am still looking into the possibility of you filing on your stock water use. Could you clarify for me, how many cattle do you have drinking out of these ponds?

Let me know if the image above doesn't send properly.
