Conversion of Nature of Use

Bowen Arrow LLC

Applicant proposes to enlarge an existing on-stream pond that will be approximately 0.2 acres in surface area and up to 10' deep. This application proposes to transfer portions of two existing water rights appurtenant to the property to provide for the consumptive components of the new pond.

Evaporation

Using ET Idaho 2017, and based upon information gathered at the Driggs (NWS-USC00102676), Open Water – Shallow Systems, with the exception of the months with accumulations, has a precipitation deficit of 483 mm/year, 1.58 acre feet annually, as shown in Figure 1 below. See Figure 2 for an excerpt from ET Idaho 2017.

Using IDWRs Pond Loss Calculation Spreadsheet as shown in Figure 1, evaporation of the 0.2-acre pond is calculated to be 0.3 acre feet annually.

It is proposed that to mitigate for the increase in consumption, a portion of water rights 22-11425 and 22-7238 will be retired from irrigation purposes and delivered into the pond. Historically, 22-11425 and 22-7238 have been used to irrigate alfalfa. Using ET Idaho 2017, and based upon information gathered at the Driggs (NWS-USC00102676), Alfalfa-less frequent cuttings has a precipitation deficit of 613 mm/year, 2.01 acre feet annually, for the growing season. See Figure 3 for an excerpt from ET Idaho 2017. It is calculated to require 0.15 acres, which will be rounded to the nearest tenth of an acre, to retire permanently from irrigation upon development of the pond.

$$\text{Acres to Retire for Mitigation} = 0.3 \text{ acre feet annually} / 2.01 \text{ ft/yr} = 0.2 \text{ acres}$$

Seepage Losses

The proposed pond covers an area of 0.2 acres with a soil profile described by the NRCS Web Soil Survey that could include silt loams, sandy loams, or gravelly loams within the top 5 feet. Applicant is proposing to extract the silty loams during excavation to use for a pond liner. Therefore, this evaluation proposes to use the seepage rate of the local silt loam, or an ML classification with 0.02 feet per day, to estimate annual seepage losses. The annual seepage is calculated by using the following equation:

$$0.02 \text{ acres} \times 0.02 \text{ feet/day} \times 365 \text{ days/yr} = 1.5 \text{ afa}$$

The proposed pond is calculated to have a Total Seepage Loss of 1.5 acre feet annually, which will require 0.7 acres of irrigated water right to be dried up, using the same conversion as described in the previous section.

$$\text{Acres to Retire for Mitigation} = 1.5 \text{ acre feet annually} / 2.01 \text{ ft/yr} = 0.7 \text{ acres}$$

Storage and First-time Fill

Volume of the pond is calculated to be approximately 1.2 acre-feet (or 400,000 gallons), as designed by AW Engineering. Since this pond is anticipated to stay full through continued maintenance, it is not anticipated to have to refill the pond except in the case of an emergency. First-time fill of the pond is proposed to be mitigated through mitigation by non-use of a portion of the existing water rights 22-7238 and 22-11425. It is proposed to dry up 0.6 acres of irrigated ground in the year that the pond is excavated in order to fill the pond with the equivalent water, based upon the equation below.

$$\text{Acres to Retire for Mitigation} = 1.2 \text{ acre feet annually} / 2.01 \text{ ft/yr} = 0.6 \text{ acres}$$

The area to be used for mitigation in this first year is illustrated on Figure 4 on the following page. This area will be under temporary construction and is an ideal location to dry up for mitigation.

Summary of Proposal

The 0.2 acre pond is proposed to have a depth of up to 10' and a volume of 1.2-acre feet. The pond will be filled from non-use of a portion of rights 22-7238 and 22-11425 in the first year and be maintained through delivery of a converted portion of the same water rights.

Evaporation is expected to be 0.3-acre feet per year, with a seepage loss of 1.5-acre feet per year. To provide 1.8-acre feet annually to the new pond, 0.9 acres from both 22-11425 and 22-7238 are proposed to be converted for pond maintenance.
