To whom it may concern

In the early 1940's Albert Westover purchased the original Westover Dairy property with the water rights for the two homes, the dairy, and beef cows. The animal rights were for 200 animals, I think. I was born in 1950 and I remember coming to Grandpa's & Grandma's place to visit and going with Grandpa to the barn to help with the cows. It was a stable barn and it was so fun to help. I remember the cap drinkers for the cows. I also remember the pole corrals and the cement drinkers for the beef cows.

I also remember hiking up to the spring and water vat with my cousins and getting a ice cold drink out of the overflow.
