RE: Snake River Basin Adjudication Claims

Dear Claimant:

We are returning your 3 claims to water rights within the Snake River Basin Adjudication along with 2 checks no.'s 92-155 for the amount of $143.00.

The claim that is based on filing no. 85-07261 will not be required to filed on at this time. A Snake River Basin Adjudication Claim is not necessary because you have not yet filed a Proof of Beneficial Use to perfect your current filing.

In reference to the claim with a spring as the source with a 1981 priority date, A state law became effective on May 20, 1971 which required people to file an Application for Permit to appropriate surface water for filing water rights. If your priority date is in fact after May 20, 1971 and the basis of your claim is beneficial use, you may file the claim if you wish but, the claim will more than likely be disallowed during the review process. To insure that you have a filing of an acceptable type you may contact this office to receive the Application for Permit forms.

The definition of a PRIORITY DATE for a water right based on beneficial use is the date that the source was first used for the purpose which you are applying for regardless of ownership. If you have put the original priority date in error, please initial any changes that you make.

With regards to the irrigation claim with spring sources, you may file this claim as is if the two houses listed are under single family ownership, please describe further. The filing fee for this claim includes a $50.00 flat fee plus, $2.00 storage fee calculated from 14 acre feet of storage plus, $1.00 per irrigated acre of land calculated from 30 acres of irrigated land plus, $100.00 per c.f.s. for the 0.04 c.f.s. for domestic use. The total filing fee is $86.00 for this claim.
