Priority Date Explanation:

This is when Paul Woodward, my father, started using the water and use continues today. I was seven years old and gathered chicken eggs for my father. This well was replaced in 2003 with a new well. There was another well near the storage tanks that was abandoned in 1990. This is a backup well that is only used when needed to divert the same amount as 13-7504. The claimed point of diversion is where the well has always been.
