Good morning,

Thank you for reaching out over the server issues. Our backlogged claims should be data entered within 2 months. As for the Laserfiche program that allows the public to view documents, we do not have an estimated time on when it will be available. When the program went down it did not just take down our department, it also took down other agencies. If there is anything that you might need, feel free to reach out to me and I will do my best to locate it for you.

Thank you,

Marion,

We appreciate you getting these documents to us.

We understand that there have been server issues and that your office is still processing and uploading claims to the public-facing database. Do you have a rough idea of when the claims will be caught up and available for public viewing? This is not intended to rush you at all, rather, I have a client who wants a rough idea of when all the claims will be caught up (from basin 11) for planning purposes. Thank you.

Kind regards,

Payton

Subject: RE: Missing claims?

Good morning,

Thank you for bringing this to my attention. We do have your claims, I have attached a copy of them to this email. I had originally sent these to Payton Hampton on 12/8/23, but I misspelled his email address, and they came back to me. When I went to resend them, I didn't hit send. For that I do apologize.

There is a message on the IDWR website stating that due to a server failure that we are unable to access our online document repositories. When the server comes back online, we will upload all the claims that have been submitted to us. Due to the volume of claims received for the adjudication, I do ask for patience while I get these uploaded for the public's viewing. Also, we are backlogged when it comes to the actual data entry of the claims due to staffing issues and large quantities of claims being submitted at the same time around the filing deadlines. IDWR is actively data entering these claims as quickly as possible while we still are assisting many users in office and by phone who are still filing claims. This backlog will still be present in the near future, we appreciate everyone's patience during this time.

Thank you,

Marion Beck

Ms. Beck -

Attached are scanned copies of a group of claims we sent snail-mail on October 20th, and the receipt for mailing. The claimant's attorney tells us these do not show up on the IDWR website, which invites me to worry that something happened to the mail.

If they did get lost, please let me know, and we will arrange prompt payment. We can send a formal cover letter to explain why they are late, if that is needed.

The funny numbers like "11-AAAA" are for our convenience to keep Beneficial Use claims straight, since we don't yet know the number that will be assigned by IDWR.

Thanks,

Bryce
