Dear applicant,

You recently submitted an application for amendment of a permit with the Idaho Department of Water Resources (Department) on February 27, 2025, for the purpose of adding a point of diversion (POD) on water right 72-16966. The Department receipted the application upon receiving the application. However, upon further review of the application for amendment, it was determined that the wrong form was used as water right 72-16966 is a decreed water right. The correct form required to add a point of diversion to water right 72-16966 would be the Application for Transfer of Water Right. I have included a copy of the transfer application for your convenience.

Please note that due to the point of diversion (POD) of water right 72-16966 being a shared POD with 4 other water rights (72-16690, 72-16691, 72-16692, and 72-4161B) there is a concern for injury for the other users. Further evidence is required to suggest that a change in the POD will not hinder the other users. Primarily, the Department requires a letter signed by each of the other users indicating that the other users have no issues with the POD of water right 72-16966 being moved out of the existing POD to a new location.

A request for a refund of the $100 submitted with the application for amendment has been issued. Please note that the fee for the transfer application is based on the diversion rate. Therefore, the fee for adding a point of diversion to water right 72-16966, or 0.08 cfs, would be $200.

If you have any questions or need any further assistance, feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

Tyler Wallace

The Notice was accompanied with a $100.00 fee for adding a point of diversion. After review, it was determined that the wrong form was used and the correct fee was not paid. Therefore, the application for amendment of a permit was returned. Could you issue a refund for the $100.00 in fees? The fee was paid by Scott D. Swanson. Their address is:

1552 E. Roanoke Dr.

They paid for the notice with check #1220, and the IDWR receipt number is C120247. Thank you and let me know if you need any more information.
